EDWARD E. CORBETT, JR., Ph.D.
SUPERINTENDENT

April 28, 2010

Dear Neighbors:

As Superintendent of the Ohio School for the Deaf (OSD), I feel it is important to communicate with you about the new school and residence buildings being built on our campus. By now, you have seen the arrival of heavy construction equipment and have noticed the removal of trees that are in the "footprint" of the new school and residence buildings. Simultaneously, Columbia Gas Company has been clearing brush and scrub trees from the right-of-way over the path of their gas line that parallels the OSD/OSSB property line and in the reserve area.

The OSD staff and students have been involved in a long process of designing the new school and residence buildings. We at OSD are very excited about our new school and residence buildings for our current and future students! You can learn more about the Ohio School for the Deaf and the new facilities being built by visiting our website:

www.ohioschoolforthe deaf.org

Another convenient way to keep you informed about our progress would be through e-mail updates. If you would like to receive regular e-mail updates on our new construction, please send me an e-mail requesting that your name be added to that distribution list. Please send an e-mail to Corbett@osd.oh.gov to be added to this list.

If you have any questions or concerns regarding the building of our new facilities, feel free to send me an e-mail or to call me at 728-1556.

Sincerely,

Edward E. Corbett, Jr.
